Shirley May France Fails To Complete English Channel Swim

Taken From Water After Almost 11 Hours Swimming

Removed From Channel By Order Of Father Despite Her Protests

MADE GALLANT EFFORT FOR VICTORY

By JAMES E. BROWN
(E. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
DOVER, Eng., Sept. 6.—Seventeen-year old Shirley May France was dragged protestingly from the water today after reaching the half-way mark in a gallant attempt to swim the English Channel.

Despite her desire to continue, her father J. Walter France lifted Shirley from the channel at 4.07 p. m. (11.07 a. m. EDT) when she was reported about eight miles off the Cliffs of Dover.

She had been swimming 10 hours and 42 minutes.

Shirley entered the cold, choppy channel at 5.21 a. m. (12.21 a. m. EDT) and started her gruelling swim four minutes later.

One week from today will be the fall primary election day in New Castle and Lawrence county.

Corn cutting seems to be quite the general task on farms of the district at the present time. Many fields are now shocked.

Leaves are beginning to come down from the trees in considerable quantities. Pa New noted that the ground at the West Side Park was covered with leaves yesterday.

Many local residents, instead of hitting the highways over the Labor Day week end, used Monday to catch up on odd jobs about the homes. Pa New observed. Many lawns were mowed on Labor Day and other necessary work performed on various residences about the city and county.

A very effective piece of work has been done on the West Pittsburgh bridge over the Beaver river. It was discovered by Pa New in a ride over that structure over the week end. Good use of the bridge is being made by local motorists since the opening last Friday. The mesh flooring will be a safety feature during icy and snowy weather.

New blinker at the intersection of Chestnut street and East Washington street was in operation over the week end. The light which warns motorists to take it easy on the hill and curb should be an effective measure in reducing accidents if obeyed.

Motorists having occasion to use the Butler road, Route 425, east of the city, will have to drive with caution during the next week or ten days. Alfred Martin, county highway superintendent, reported today. Workmen will start to fill in the voids on the road or complete the patch work which was (Continued on Page Fifteen)

Hurricane Creeps Toward Bermuda

MIAMI, Sept. 6. — (INS) — A tropical storm described as "a large and very severe hurricane" crept slowly today toward Bermuda.

The violence of the storm prevented "hurricane hunter" planes from finding the center for reporting purposes but an advisory from the Miami Weather Bureau sent hurricane warnings up at Bermuda. Weather bureau officials said there is no present threat to the U. S. mainland. Florida's rich "Gold Coast" and citrus belt were battered by a hurricane which lashed the Atlantic seaboard two weeks ago.

FIGHTING SPEECHES MADE FOR PROGRAM

GRANDVIEW, Mo., Sept. 6.—President Truman speeds back to Washington today, turning his attention from the administration's farm-labor program to the battle to save Britain's staggering economy.

The Chief Executive spent the night at his home at Independence, Mo., after an exhausting Labor Day, which saw the "flying president" deliver two fighting speeches in behalf of his 21-point legislative program.

Tomorrow Mr. Truman will welcome to Washington Britain's delegation to the crucial Anglo-American-Canadian Conference to resolve the grave British economic crisis.

City's Schools Begin New Year

Most Of County Schools Start Classes Today; Remainder Begin Tomorrow

New Castle's public schools opened their doors for nearly 8000 pupils today for the beginning of another school year.

The task of getting down to the studies really won't begin for another day, however, it is announced by Dr. Frank L. Burton, superintendent of the city's schools.

Pupils didn't report to their schools until 10 o'clock this morning and after registration and other odds and ends they were dismissed for their last real afternoon of summer vacation.

County Schools Start

Most of the county's schools got under way at 9 o'clock this morning with short registration and book distribution sessions. They, too, called it quits early but will start classes in earnest tomorrow. Mahoning township, Shenango township and Union township schools do not begin until tomorrow, it is announced by John C. Syling, county superintendent of schools.

Plain Grove opened August 29, and Ellport, Perry township and Wayne township schools opened August 31.

Catholic School Term Starts Today

Lawrence County Catholic School Children Numbering 900 Start Fall Studies

Locally about 900 school children attended classes, many in the first grades. All-day sessions were started and the children will start their studies in earnest immediately.

Schools in Butler county, however, did not open this morning, due to the recent increase in polio illness.

Holiday Period Accident Death Toll Passes 400

Fear New Record Of Fatalities To Be Recorded For Labor Day Weekend

OVER 328 DEAD IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

(By International News Service)

The National Safety Council reported today that Labor Day week-end motorists crashed to the biggest holiday traffic death toll in the country's history.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, reported that more than 500 persons met violent death over the three-day holiday, and of that number more than 400 were killed in traffic accidents.

(By International News Service)

The nation's death toll for its Labor Day week-end—summer's last fling—rose past the 400 mark today and appeared headed for a new record.

Auto accidents already had killed a record number of persons. A survey showed 328 persons fatally injured on roadways crowded with an estimated 30 million automobiles.

At least 30 persons drowned and 51 died by other violence.

The latter figure included at least four deaths attributable to plane crashes. Among those victims was famed Bill Odom, hero of two "round-the-world" flights. Odom crashed to his death while flying in the Thompson trophy race in Cleveland, O.

See New Record

With reports still coming in, it seemed certain the overall toll would rise above the count of 428 death recorded in 1937.

The record of traffic death, 302, also was set that year.

The traffic count far outdistanced the 280 predicted by the National Safety Council.

The toll on the highways before the big homeward rush started last night inspired Council President Ned H. Dearborn to issue a last minute warning for "every caution."

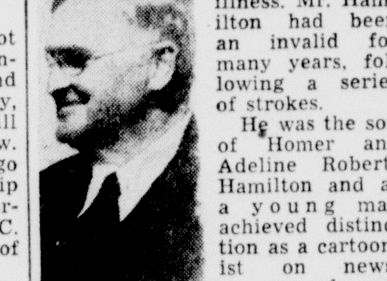

Thirty-two accidental deaths, 28 of them in traffic, were reported by Michigan. California also listed 28 traffic fatalities.

High on the list were New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa.

Scott Hamilton Taken By Death

Dies On Monday After Illness Of Several Years—Had Notable Career

Scott B. Hamilton, aged 73, of 1611 Pennsylvania avenue, died Monday morning at the New Castle hospital, after a two years' illness. Mr. Hamilton had been an invalid for many years, following a series of strokes.

He was the son of Homer and Adeline Roberts Hamilton and as a young man achieved distinction as a cartoonist on newspapers and magazines.

He made many of the cartoons for the old "Free Press," nationally prominent Socialist newspaper of 40 years ago. Mr. Hamilton achieved his greatest fame as a political cartoonist. He originated the idea, widely copied by other cartoonists of using a setting hen to resemble a politician hatching out ideas in the form of eggs.

As a young man he worked on The Vindicator in the days when (Continued on Page Two)

Charles Panella Takes First Place In Orange Crate Labor Day Derby

General view of the course on Taylor street hill as the final race is run in the Labor Day, Optimist sponsored, Orange Crate Derby. Seen on the course, seconds after leaving the starter's ramp, are Robert Foht (left) and Charles Panella (right) as they speed down hill in their midgut cars.

Charles Panella, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Panella, 202 Edison avenue, was crowned new Orange Crate Derby champion at the Optimist Club's fourth annual Orange Crate Derby Monday morning on Taylor street hill.

Panella won the title in his first season in derby competition by defeating Robert Foht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Foht, Walmo, by half a length in the final and one of the most thrilling races of the day.

Chuck had just defeated Ronald Yachabach in a real thriller for the class A title before turning in his best time of the day, 23 seconds flat, against Foht, the Class B champ.

The match for the Class A crown between Panella and Yachabach was the closest race of the day with Panella being declared the winner by less than a foot.

Foht recorded the fastest time of the day over the 750-foot course, 22.25 seconds, when he defeated Tom Amodei for the Class B title. His brother, Wilbur "Fohty" Foht, Jr., recorded the fastest time in last year's races, 24.4 seconds.

Over 5000 Spectators

Over 5000 spectators were on hand for this fourth and probably finest of all Orange Crate Derbies held in New Castle. The races were officially opened with a short welcome address by Mayor John F. Haven, and were run off in rapid order.

Twenty-two cars entered the preliminary race, two cars being forced out of action due to accidents in the warm-up runs. City Policeman Bud Fleeger and Sammy Tate, driver of one of the unfortunate racers, were taken to the hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in the crash. Neither was seriously injured.

After the racers got under way there were no accidents of any sort. Spectators were well behaved and kept the way well cleared for the racers.

Nice Looking Cars

All cars were well painted and sleek looking jobs. The racer of Charles Panella, winner of the races, was probably the most unique of the lot. It was built with a boat-like effect, with a hole just large enough to seat the driver. Sides came in on the (Continued on Page Twenty-One)

New Aerial Fire Truck Arrives Today

Safety Director Richard I. Davis today informed members of council that the new American LaFrance company aerial ladder fire truck, purchased last winter at a cost of $25,000, will be brought to New Castle this afternoon from Youngstown.

It arrived here Saturday but the unloading platform at the P. & L. E. R. R. was not large enough to unload it on, hence it had to be carried via rail to Youngstown.

An engineer of the fire engine company will drive the aerial truck to New Castle this afternoon, the councilman stated.

It will replace the obsolete aerial truck, bought in 1917, which is housed at Central. During council meeting at city hall this morning Safety Director Davis offered a motion, which passed, authorizing the city clerk to advertise for bids for the sale of the 1917 truck. The new aerial has 85-foot ladders.

Charles Panella proudly displays his trophy after winning the Orange Crate Derby on Monday. With him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Panella of 202 Edison avenue.

Four Children Burn To Death

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 6.—(INS)—Four children burned to death today in their frame home on the outskirts of Saginaw while the mother fought desperately to rescue them.

Mrs. Cleo Walters, 34, was hospitalized for shock and burns and a fifth child, Mary, 12, is in serious condition from injuries suffered in a leap from her second-floor bedroom.

The dead are Samuel, 14, Angelina, 8, George, 4, and Walter Jr., 3.

Firemen said an oil stove apparently exploded on the first floor where Mrs. Walters slept. She reportedly was awakened by the blast, but prevented from going upstairs by the flames.

Nearly 2,000,000 Return To School In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(INS)—School bells summoned approximately 1,866,000 back to classrooms today in Pennsylvania.

Youngsters under 17 years of age holding work permits must return to school if they lack jobs, according to the State Department of Public Instruction.

The initial 1949-50 school year enrollment represented a 17 per cent gain over the last year and school officials believe as many as 20,000 more boys and girls may be prompted to return to classrooms due to eight employment conditions.

Many parochial and private schools, and a few public schools, opened the academic year last week, according to the department. The shortage of teachers will not be as acute this year as last but a need exists for more instructors in elementary and rural schools, according to Superintendent Francis B. Haas.

To Candidates

For many years the policy of The News has been to refuse political advertising which vilified or libelled an opposing candidate. This rule has applied to all candidates and to all political parties.

For purpose of emphasis The News wishes to repeat this policy at this time. In addition, any political advertising which is of such a controversial nature that fairness requires an answer, must be published not later than the Wednesday preceding the primary or general election.

This in order that candidates parties may have equal chance to present their views before the election.

Odom Tragedy Casts Shadow Over Air Races

Famed Flier And Two Others Killed In Cleveland Air Races Crash

PLANE PLUNGES INTO SMALL HOME

CLEVELAND, Sept. 6.—(INS)—A tragedy that took the lives of famed "round-the-world" flyer Bill Odom, a 26-year-old woman, and her infant son cast a dark shadow today over a record-making National Air Races in Cleveland.

The tragic crash on Monday also overshadowed the feat of ex-navy ace Cook Cleland in winning his second Thompson trophy race and smashing his own 1947 speed record in doing so.

To Fiery Death

The tall, affable 30-year-old Odom, hero globe-girdler and distance flyer, crashed to a fiery death when his flashy P-51 Mustang hurtled at more than 400 miles an hour into a house in suburban Berea.

Odom was on the second lap of the 225-mile Thompson race, climactic event of the three-day show, when the crash occurred.

The green, clipped-wing ship plunged without warning into the small frame house, exploded with a searing blast of flame and smoke, and brought death to Mrs. Jeanne Laird and her 13-month-old son, Craig. The woman's husband, Brad-cartoons were made on chalk plates. He also worked as a political cartoonist on the old Pittsburgh Dispatch. Mr. Hamilton worked in water colors, oils, chalk and charcoal and was especially proficient at portraits. Many of his works are now held by his family and old friends.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 6. — (INS)—Fifty-two contestants for the 1949 "Miss America" crown were checked into Atlantic City today after some adroit diplomacy by pageant officials prevented the battle of the beauties from turning into a "battle of the beasts."

Mr. Hamilton made the first safety cartoons for the Carnegie Steel Co. 40 years ago when the idea of safety precautions was just being introduced into the mills. He would cover an accident, find out how it happened and then draw it in detail in cartoon form. These were posted in the Carnegie mills and from them have grown movies of safety precautions and many other safety measures.

Born At West Farmington

Mr. Hamilton was born May 1, 1876, at West Farmington, at his maternal grandmother's home. His father was the head of the Hamilton Engineering Works and his mother was a former teacher.

He was the great-grandson of Colonel William Roberts of Revolutionary War fame and was brought up on stories of members of the family who had been pioneers in the Western Reserve since before 1800.

When the Spanish-American War was declared, he was among the first Youngstown men to enlist, serving with the Seventh Regiment that built the first telegraph lines in Alaska. At the outbreak of World War I, although past service age, he enlisted a second time, serving in this country throughout the war.

Mr. Hamilton through his many newspaper associations knew most of the national figures of his time. He loved the theater, the folks from Broadway, the politicians, with many of whom he was on friendly terms.

Following his first stroke he joined his brothers in the construction of Hamilton Lake and for a brief time lived at Poland. Since 1912 he had been a resident of New Castle.

He was a past commander of the Daniel Leasure Camp of Spanish American War Veterans of New Castle, a member of the American Legion and the First Presbyterian church.

He leaves his wife, the former Maude Whinery Hamilton of New Castle, four children, Miss Esther Hamilton of Youngstown; Mrs. J. Porter Sherwood of Kinsman; Edmond Moore Hamilton of Venice, Cal.; and Mrs. William H. Alderice, of Kinsman, O. There are three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Cunningham Funeral Home on East Washington street.

Friends will be received at the funeral home at 7 o'clock tonight.

ROSE MARIE GRANATA WEDS CHARLES NERO

At a lovely late summer wedding, Miss Rose Marie Granata, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Granata of Phillips street, became the bride of Charles Nero, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Nero of Phillips street. Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita officiated at St. Vitus church, 8 a. m. Saturday. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed.

Ferns, lighted candelabra, and large bowls of white summer flowers provided a beautiful setting for the exchange of vows.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was picturesque in her gown of white bridal satin. Charming features of the creation were its net yoke outlined with rhinestones, and the long, tapered sleeves.

The fitted bodice was accentuated by the very full skirt, which terminated in a long train. A dainty tiara held the fingertip veil of illusion. She wore the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue. Her bouquet was of white roses, centered with gardenias. She gave her flowers to the Blessed Mother before the ceremony.

Miss Theresa Nero, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, was attractively attired in yellow taffeta. A full peplum complimented the fitted bodice, net yoke and short sleeves. She wore yellow elbow length gloves, and a picture hat. Her bouquet consisted of red roses that were tied with a large pink bow.

Petite Mary Ann Orrioce and Charles Fontana were a miniature "bride and groom." Mary Ann was sweet in a pink velvet brocade gown. Layers of ruffles graced the skirt. A sash of white spring organza and the pink bonnet complimented the costume. She carried red roses and white pompons. Little Charles wore a tuxedo.

Best man was Edward Ludovici. Frances Colao, church organist, played appropriate nuptial music.

Following the ceremony, a congratulatory period was held in the church.

A delicious dinner was served at 1:30 to 150 guests, at the Casa Savoi Hall. Sixty of those present were from Akron. Summer flowers were centerpieces and a color theme of yellow, pink, and white was carried out in the decorations.

From 8 to 11 a reception for 300 guests was held at the Casa Savoi Halls. A six-tier cake centered the bride's table, with bowls of flowers on the other tables.

The bride graduated from the Akron high school. The groom, a graduate of the New Castle senior high school, is employed by the Elliott Brothers in New Castle. After a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and point east, the young couple will reside with the bride's parents for the present.

PRE-NUPTIAL FETE HONORS MISS MAHER

A charming pre-nuptial shower was held in the home of Mrs. E. J. Rieg, 805 West Washington street, on a recent evening in honor of the forthcoming marriage of Miss Helen Maher, Co-hostess for the occasion was Mrs. J. L. Quinn.

Bridge provided the evening diversion with competitive honors going to Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. John Maron, and Mrs. Edson Rodgers.

A dainty lunch was served to guests seated at individual card tables. Lovely floral bouquets centered the tables. Aides in serving were Mrs. Emil Harvey and Mrs. James Rote.

The honored guest was presented with an attractive and useful electrical appliance from the group.

Special guests at the event were Mrs. Edson Rodgers, Beaver; Mrs. Emil Harvey, Rochester; Mrs. John Maron, Parker's Landing; and Miss Kathleen Maher, El Paso, Texas.

Miss Maher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Maher, 615 West Washington street, will become the bride of Paul Donald Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Nelson, St. Joseph, Mo., on September 8. The open church ceremony will be solemnized at 10 a. m. in St. Mary's church.

WAR OF NERVES

They say it's a "war of nerves" that the Soviet and Yugoslavia are waging and as long as it stays that way there is no great reason for concern. Of course the possibility always exists that some incident will touch off the guns but it is doubtful that either nations wants actual conflict.

Their reasons, however, are not identical. In the case of the Yugoslavs it is a matter of caution and self-preservation. They know that they lack the forces to stand up successfully against the Soviet's enormous and well-trained army. The result of war for them would not only be complete defeat but the very subjection to Moscow rule which they are trying to avoid. It would be the end of even the shadow of national independence.

The Russians must move slowly because military attack on their part would destroy the pretense, elaborately built up by communist propaganda, that the Soviet is the one country in the world that is genuinely interested in promoting peace. It would cut all the ground from under the feet of Stalin and Vishinsky and of the Wallace, Robersons, and other pro-Russians in the United States.

So there is at least a basis for hoping that the Balkan controversy will not reach the final and deadly phase. If it does the consequences for the rest of Europe and for America, too, could become tragic in the extreme.

CONSCIENCE LOSES

When Defense Secretary Johnson invited a number of congressmen to the Pentagon last week to announce a proposed reduction in Defense Department personnel and facilities, he told them the whole thing was a matter of conscience. Each day's delay in putting the proposed reduction into effect, he said, "costs us out of our (military) budget a minimum of a million dollars . . . my conscience would not permit me to delay . . . hence our invitation to you."

The congressmen allowed that this way a very fine thing, but after taking a look at where the axe would fall—geographically, that is—the sound of lawmakers wrestling with their consciences could be heard all over Capitol Hill. Some congressmen managed to win a fall; others didn't. Among the former group was Rep. Clyde Doyle of California. Mr. Doyle's conscience was particularly heavy because of the Navy's share of the cut was a proposal to place the Long Beach, Calif., shipyard on a standby basis. This would cut the civilian payroll from 5,000 to 400.

An announcement from Washington states that Representative Doyle has gotten the Navy Department to reconsider orders shutting down the shipyard. Proving once again that economy is a fine thing—as Representative Doyle will be quick to tell you—so long as it is in someone else's back yard.

The winnah, by a clean fall, one California representative!

FOR ALASKAN DEFENSE

Expedition to Alaska of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, led by General Omar N. Bradley, highlights the enormous importance of this remote bastion to the defense of America.

Again and again the vulnerability of Alaska, in its proximity to Russian Siberia, has been stressed, with equal emphasis placed by experts on the vital need to avert its seizure in the event of an aggressive attack upon us.

There have been urgent proposals for the United States to create elaborate, extensive and enormously costly defenses against such a contingency. Plans of that character, however, must be conditioned by America's economic and military resources, probably much below the scope urged by the more extreme commentators, some of whom have proposed making the area impregnable at enormous cost.

The immense difficulties of maintaining large bodies of troops in Alaska are apparent, particularly because of the tremendous problems of supply. But there have been seemingly feasible suggestions to improve the air defenses of the peninsula, including adequate radar installations, and to maintain garrisons in key positions.

These and perhaps some other feasible measures might be worked out to render the difficulties of an enemy sufficiently great as to delay or ward off sudden attack. It is to be hoped that the Nation's military leaders will map plans that will provide the greatest possible security in Alaska, but that, in any case, clearly recognizable defense fundamentals will be improved.

A fish wearing glasses has been caught in Michigan. Better to see the bait, perhaps.

By the end of the year 42,500,000 motor cars will be operating in the nation. Apparently only the agile pedestrian will be able to dodge all of them.

In Boston an escaped crazy man avoided capture for days by racing a motorcar through the streets and appearing to the authorities as a perfectly normal person.

It remains to be seen how long it will be before there is competition among Washington lobbyists, and some of the boys cut the fee to four per cent.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Great Britain waits—almost in a state of suspended animation—for the arrival in Washington of Ernest Bevin and Sir Stafford Cripps, entrusted with the task of putting American economy behind a vast plan to restore British financial stability.

All sections of the British press as well as the government and the Conservative opposition by now have made it amply clear to every Englishman that while in the long run his must have himself by hard work the initial impetus must come from America.

Should the foreign secretary and his chancellor of the exchequer return empty-handed, the results would be unpredictable.

But the government apparently is convinced that some sort of scheme will be evolved. They base their attitude upon the contention that American and British economic interests throughout the world are so closely interwoven that the United States cannot afford to let the commonwealth collapse.

Complexity Of Problems

The extraordinary complexity of Britain's problems was presented to the British Academy of Sciences meeting at Newcastle-on-Tyne in annual convention by its veteran economics section president, Sir Alexander Gray.

He dealt at length with the Labor government's efforts to create a "welfare state" in which all citizens are guaranteed the necessities of life.

He canvassed all such economic theories throughout the ages, from the earliest Christian days to the teachings of Marx and Lenin.

Sir Alexander came to a number of interesting conclusions.

One was that man is essentially "a lazy brute" and almost invariably works only because he has to and to gain luxuries for himself and his family.

Can't Supply Handouts

Another is that nature's resources are insufficient to supply "handouts" to each and every individual.

The World and the Mud Puddles

BASEBALL IN MINIATURE.

A sports event that started in a small way several years ago in Williamsport, the home of Pennsylvania's venerable "Grid" is attracting national attention and bids fair to achieve still more prominence as it continues to develop. It is the "Little League," composed of baseball players aged for eight to twelve, and its affairs are conducted under rules and procedure patterned after those of the major circuits.

So rapidly has the idea spread that there are now some eighteen thousand players regularly signed up in a dozen states, all with their eyes on the coveted championship. Leagues are composed of four teams each, an arrangement which Eddie Dyer, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals says is ideal, as there is no second division. Dyer himself sponsors a team in Houston, Texas, but he has not been able to place it as near the top as he has done with his hard hitting Cards.

Have Own Grounds

The midget clubs have their own grounds, where everything is on a reduced scale. The distance between bases and from pitcher's box to home plate are two-thirds of the standard, balls and bats are somewhat lighter and six innings constitute a regular game. Once under contract a player is the property of his club for his entire career in the league unless sold, traded, optioned or released.

Elimination contests between teams from various sections decide the contenders for the grand prize, and last week the semifinals and the championship games were played at Williamsport. Attendance at each game was between seven and ten thousand, and among those present were Governor Duff of Pennsylvania, Ford Frick, president of the National League, Ray Mack, son of Connie and vice-president of the Athletics, scouts from teams from both major leagues and two big league umpires. The championship tussle was between Hammon, N. J., and Pensacola, Fla., and resulted in a victory for the New York Yankees.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PLAYING SICK AT SCHOOL TIME

Our schools are usually so attractive to children that most of them are eager to go to school every day they are physically able to go. But there are some truants among children over eight or 10 who don't find school to their liking but find other interests more alluring.

Let us consider today the child of the kindergarten or first grade who begs or cries or feigns illness in order to stay home on school mornings. More often than not this happens during the first week or so of school, though it sometimes happens much later in the term. When it happens later in the term the child may have had one or more unhappy incidents with the teacher or frightful encounters with other children at school or on the way home from school.

Avoid School

Usually the young child who tries to avoid going to school has been too closely tied to his mother. He has not acquired reasonably self-reliance and physical and emotional independence at home. He has not had up to now a normal play life with many other children of his own age. His lack of social adaptation and emotional independence renders the solution of his problem difficult for him, his teacher and his parents. Usually, however, the teacher has less trouble with this child than with his mother. This mother often will insist on staying at school with the child or will encourage his crying after her when she leaves. As a rule, the child is all right soon after she goes home.

If the child pretends to be sick on a school morning he may have practiced on this device in order to have his way in earlier morning at home. Nearly always, when the youngster disappears he may stay home all his life disappear until the next school morning.

The parent should take the child's temperature, and if he has a fever, call the doctor. Even if there is no fever, he might feel more sure if the doctor is called. If he advises that the child is not sick, she should require him to go to school, even if she takes him in her car. In case she is decisive in her announcement and reveals no doubt in her word and voice and actions, he will pretty surely soon submit. If, however, she felt sure he would cry and struggle all the way to school, it might be better to let him stay home that day and stay in bed all day, since he says he is sick, and all the following night, with light diet, very little amusement and not much attention from him. Handled so he will incline to not feign illness on another school morning.

In the meanwhile the mother should find a way to guard him against bullies, by going with him to school and bringing him home. It would be better if she could employ a much older child to walk with him to and from school for some days. The mother also should, even if she must neglect other things, work hard to help the child have more fun with playmates of his own age, preferably with some of his classmates. My bulletin, "Your child and His Playmates," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me at 235 East 45th Street, New York 17, N. Y. Being his mother, you might work out ways of attracting some of them to your premises, their parents approving, of course. It is fine if you can have your child go to and from school with a few of his classmates. Just to take this child out of school will only prolong the problem and make him less likable and more miserable later. Younger mothers should take note and act accordingly.

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Long Delay On Nomination

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. — It might be well to consider the plight of a public servant with a long and honorable record who has been forced to take a vacation without pay through the whole summer. Since June 22, Leland Olds of the Federal Power Commission has been off the payroll although two weeks earlier he was nominated by President Truman for a third term on the commission.

Not until a few days ago did Senator Ed Johnson, chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee, get around to naming a subcommittee to hold hearings on the Olds nomination. No date has been set for those hearings and the likelihood is that the sitdown strike on the nomination will continue.

Lots Of Reasons

There are lots of reasons why the committee should shut the door against Olds. Through his long career he has frequently made himself unpopular with powerful interests by taking the side of the public against the private utilities. Furthermore, he knows the technique of utility regulation inside and out and with the two present members of the power commission, he has made a majority for stricter supervision.

In particular, Olds has stuck by his belief that under a ruling of the Supreme Court the Federal Power Commission has no right to regulate the production of natural gas and fix a fair rate for its product. Olds contends that regulation in the interests of the millions of consumers of natural gas cannot be effective unless it begins with the producer. If the producer can charge what the traffic will bear, then the regulation of the distribution of natural gas would seem to be a pretty empty process.

By taking this stand, Olds has come into head on collision with Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma.

Use Is Expanding

For the first time in its history New York City is getting natural gas and mixing it with manufactured gas. The Washington area with its greatly increased population now uses nothing but natural gas. An increase in the field price of gas would be felt immediately by consumers in almost every part of the country.

Chairman Johnson named as head of the sub-committee Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas. Coming from a state that produces large quantities of natural gas, Johnson of Texas could hardly be expected to favor regulation of the producers or the confirmation of an appointee who advocates that regulation.

In spite of strong pressure on him to reconsider the nomination of Olds, President Truman has indicated he will not back down. If, as now seems probable, the Senate does not act before adjournment, the President will almost certainly give Olds a recess appointment and he will go back to work after an enforced and payless vacation of several months.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan (By International News Service)

Not to give advice to Dan Topping but if Rickey had the Yanks, he'd move the franchise to London for the socialized medicine.

The Yanks are leading the league in "bones batted in" and if they take the pennant this year it will be the toughest series ever staged in the franchise ward.

It's got so that instead of announcing the starting pitcher the umpire steps forward, removes his hat and says "Calling Dr. Killdare!"

And in the box score right after "left on base," there's a space for "left on back."

But at last every American boy can realize his dream . . . if he wants to join the Yanks all he has to do is break a bone and he'll join most of them.

But don't count the Yanks out of the race . . . Casey Stengel is determined to win if he has to break a . . . Oops! Sorry!

THE WORLD IS MINE

Today, upon a bus, I saw a lovely girl with golden hair. I envied her, she seemed so gay, and I wished I were as fair. When suddenly she chose to leave, I saw her hobble down the aisle. She had one leg and wore a crutch; and as she passed—a smile. O God, forgive me when I whine. I have two legs. The world is mine.

And then I stopped to buy some sweets; the boy that sold them had such charm. I talked with him; he seemed so glad—if I were late, I would do no harm.

And as I left, he said to me, "I thank you. You have been so kind. It's nice to talk to folks like you. You see," he said, "I'm blind."

O God, forgive me when I whine. I have two eyes. The world is mine.

Later, walking down the street, I saw a child with eyes of blue. He stood and watched the others play; it seemed he knew not what to do.

I stopped a moment; then I said, "Why don't you join the others, dear?" He looked ahead without a word. O God, forgive me when I whine. I have two ears. The world is mine.

With legs to take me where I'd go, With eyes to see the sunset's glow, With ears to hear what I would know, O God, forgive me when I whine. I'm blessed, indeed. The world is mine.

Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT (Copyright 1949, By The Baltimore Sun)

Probably A Record!

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. AS THIS session of Congress enters its eighth month, the failure of the Truman Administration (but for one thing) approaches the colossal. If any President in the year immediately following his election and with his own party in full control of Congress ever had so unsuccessful a leadership his name cannot now be recalled.

NO PRESIDENT ever made so many promises or fulfilled so few. The Taft-Hartley Act has not been repealed and his civil-rights program has not been put through. His tax proposals, both those he made at the beginning and those he made later when he reversed his position, have been disregarded. His extremely radical farm program has flopped and his socialization of medicine plan bogged down long ago. It was Senator Taft's housing bill and not Mr. Truman's that went through.

CONGRESS has appropriated great sums—for example, $130,000,000 extra for the veterans—which he opposed, and it has refused to make even great appropriations which he has demanded. His talk about retrenchment has become a joke when weighed against the enormous plans for spending which he advocates and the great subsidies which he is dangle before so many special groups. Probably a considerable extension of social security which the President is urging will be enacted, but both parties are for that. This record of failure is really unique—particularly when to it is added his inability to gain confirmation from the Democratic Senate of his close personal friend, ex-Gov. Mon Wallgren of Washington, who is still here, apparently waiting for a recess appointment of some kind.

ONE would think that in such a situation as this Mr. Truman would be discouraged. Certainly, most men would be; but, if he is, there are no visible signs. On the contrary, though the legislative jam is the worst ever seen in Congress, he appears convinced that public sentiment is strongly in favor of the direction in which his program would take the country and that if he keeps Congress in session long enough, most of this program will go through. If not, he will put the blame on Congress in 1950 as he did in 1948 and the people will elect men who will follow him.

PERHAPS, he is right about this, though not many, in or out of Congress, will agree. However, one thing is certain—whatever he gets through will carry us farther toward the left than before. The White House "inner circle" no longer makes any pretense of adherence to conservative or orthodox finance. The multiplication table is relegated even farther to the rear. The Truman economic advisers are inclining more to the extreme liberal view that the size of the national debt does not matter as "we owe it to ourselves." There are no plans for reducing the debt in the budgeting preparations for 1951-52. The views of Prof. Seymour Harris, of Harvard, who thinks it is anti-social to save, are again being quoted and the benign effects of a vast debt as set forth by Mr. Robert K. Pepper, of the Fort Myers News-Press, in his article entitled "What Is Good About the Debt?" are being cited. Recently this document was put in the Congressional Record by a strong Administration senator.

PROBABLY, the most revealing evidence that the Truman Fair Deal goes way beyond the Roosevelt New Deal in its efforts toward the "Welfare State" is in the bill creating the Columbia Valley Administration—and this may be the one notable Administration achievement of the session. Though little publicized, in some ways it is the most important pending measure. It creates a monopolistic government corporation not only much more autocratic than the Tennessee Valley Authority but several times as large. There is no space here adequately to describe this bill, but CVA would certainly be the most potent agency in the country. It would easily dominate the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana. It would have control of vast funds and of a gigantic job-holding machine of great political potentialities.

IN TIME, it not only would be independent of the government of these four states but practically of Congress as well. It is being pushed not only by the Truman Administration but by a powerful group of Western senators who seem to ignore the fact that behind this bill is the greatest drive against private enterprise yet made. Those who oppose it, of course, are being smeared as "tools of the power interests." If it goes through, the power and size of the Federal bureaucracy will be vastly enhanced, the importance of state government greatly diminished and a great stride made toward the nationalization of industry. If it goes through, notwithstanding the failure of everything else, this would be something the Administration might think it could boast about.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A two-hundred word telegram has just been delivered to me.

I shall not print it all. Just enough to give you the rough idea.

"Would consider it honor to have you on judges committee for grand finals of Mrs. America contest Convention Hall Asbury Park, New Jersey, Saturday night, September tenth and Sunday afternoon, September Eleventh. Judge on basis of beauty and homemaking talents of contestants and entire idea is to prove that married women are just as pretty as single girls and furthermore they can cook or don't you think so?"

To make the invitation doubly enticing the telegram held out this inducement:

"The grand finals will be televised on Midwestern and Eastern networks if that is an inducement. If you can make it would be happy to arrange hotel accommodations for you over the weekend of September wire Mrs. America Contest Committee New York City."

My reply to that two-hundred word invitation is just one word "NO."

There are several reasons.

First, I am a happily married man.

For many years now there has already been, to me at least, a perfectly satisfactory "Miss America." She is pretty and, if I am a judge, getting prettier every year.

She can cook as well as any other "Miss America" that may possibly be elected in Asbury Park or anywhere else.

She has "homemaking talents" that, as far as I am concerned are unnecessary.

Who is my "Mrs. America?" You will excuse me for not telling you. She is going to read this column and might be too modest to let me send it in to the office.

Furthermore I am fully convinced that there are millions of men in this country who, if they were asked to choose a "Mrs. America," would choose exactly as I did.

Their "Mrs. America" might have a different name.

She might be an altogether different person than the one who is my "Mrs. America."

But it would be that one woman who, to them, above all others has all the beauty, all the homemaking talents and all the culinary accomplishments necessary to make her No. 1 in any contest.

However, if I had not already planned another trip, I would like to go to Asbury Park and watch the judging of that contest.

I have always liked those wild animal acts in the circus, particularly the ones where the trainer sticks his head into the lion's mouth and comes out unscathed.

At some of the contests I have attended I think the judges would have preferred to stick their heads into the mouth of a lion.

It would have required less courage.

Excuse me. I have to go downstairs. "Mrs. America" is calling me for lunch. There, I told you, after all.

Railroads Have Unusual Week-End

Reports emanating from the B. and O. and P. and L. E. railroad passenger stations in the Seventh Ward reveal that every piece of equipment put in operation by the roads was jam packed over the long Labor Day week end.

Harry Boyd, ticket agent for the two systems reported that a land-office business was done at the local ticket office. Every coach and car on the train running through the ward east and west were jam packed with no space available on the crack trains.

The Columbian, the new B. and O. train recently put in operation was more than sold out with every available inch of space a complete sell-out. Weary ticket agents and footsore conductors are hoping that it will be a long time when such traffic will descend on the lines in order that they might rest up.

County Cancer Unit To Elect Officers At Friday Meeting

Plans To Be Made For Expansion Of Cancer Control Work In County

Annual meeting of the Lawrence County Unit of the American Cancer society will be held Friday, September 9, 1949 at 7:30 p. m., at The Castleton hotel, when plans will be made for an expanded program of local cancer control work.

Mrs. J. W. McIlwraith, county captain, said the program for the new fiscal year, which is just beginning, will be outlined and that officers and board members will be elected.

It is expected that a final report of the 1949 fund raising effort will be available for the meeting. Preliminary reports show that the Lawrence County Unit raised $19,407.07 during the campaign, all of which will be put to work immediately in an effort to control cancer, the nation's second greatest killer of human lives.

In addition to the society's vast research program, designed to hurry the day when the cause and cure for cancer will be a reality, and the service projects, Mrs. McIlwraith re-emphasized the importance of alerting all Lawrence county citizens to the necessity of becoming acquainted with the seven cancer danger signals, the hope of cure and the three methods of treating the disease through surgery, X-ray and radium.

Folks Of Fame

Marshal Joseph Jacques Joffe, famous French soldier, was born January 12, 1852. His studies at the Ecole Polytechnique were interrupted by the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 in which he participated. He served in the French army in Indo-China, Senegal and on Madagascar. Two days after Germany declared war on France he became French commander-in-chief. Failure to break or turn the German line, he was the subject of recurring criticism. On December 26, 1916, his two offices of commander-in-chief and technical adviser were suppressed but, in compensation, he was created a marshal of France. In 1917 he visited the United States. He died January 3, 1931.

Now field director of the New York Giants' minor league farm system, Carl Hubbell, once great pitcher, was born in Carthage, Mo., June 22, 1903. Breaking into baseball with Cushing of the Oklahoma State league in 1923 he didn't reach the majors until five years later. However, he made good with a bang. He was such a consistent winner in 1932-1937 he was given the nickname of "The Great Ticket." He wound up his active career in 1942 but no before he set the National league record of 46 consecutive shutout innings. He pitched in three World Series and five All-Star games.

traordinary TWA flight from New

United States Rubber company.

The next higher step in age class is the American Legion Junior

League, composed of teen-age boys. With the financial assistance of Henry Ford and the active sponsorship of the Legion this organization has been highly successful, and it is said that it has furnished more than half of the regular players now in the major leagues, including the fabulous DiMaggios and the Pirates star Ralph Kiner, who speaks softly and carries a big stick. The many graduates of this league who do not pursue athletics as a career will have had an experience of healthful recreation, agreeable companionship, clean competition and good sportsmanship that will be invaluable in later life.

Baseball is a highly competitive business, and it appears that the talent scouts are going farther and farther afield in their search for promising material. The magnates have learned that to build up a good baseball team the best method is the same as that used in training wild animals, enlisting

devotees for a new ideology or choos-

On Dangerous Ground

Gray admitted in his paper that he was treading on dangerous ground when he said that shorter working hours may be dangerous because so few men know how to spend their spare time advantageously for themselves and the nation.

He admitted that he had no concrete solution to offer. But he did submit the entirely new suggestion that production might be increased if work could be made more attractive—not merely from the viewpoints of clean and modern surroundings and equipment—but in creating perhaps a sense of pride and achievement that would prompt a workman to put in longer hours at his own volition.

The great economist's address was important chiefly because it was a symbol of the manner in which England's finest minds are being brought to bear upon Brit-tain's dire problems.

Britain's gold and dollar reserve is dwindling away day by day. Unless she defaults on commitments to commonwealth nations in the dollar areas, this drain will continue if Bevin and Cripps do not find a way to plug the hole while in Washington.

They have kept secret the main parts of the plan they will present to United States and Canadian oficials next week. There is no question, however, the scheme is a comprehensive one. No one doubts Cripps' economic ability even though many distrust his politics. For England, much if not everything, depends upon his success in "elling" it on this side of the ocean.

Poetry Group Has Dinner-Discussion

Appreciation Group Of New Castle Poetry Group Hears Ezra Pound's Controversy

"The Controversy of Ezra Pound," was the subject at the season's first appreciation meeting of the New Castle Poetry group. It was held in the free public library. Prior to this "listener's meeting" the group enjoyed a 6 o'clock dinner in a downtown dining room.

Miss Helen Westlake, member of New Castle high school faculty, presided during the discussion period, which attracted quite a large turnout at the first meeting.

Ezra Pound was awarded the first prize for the best achievement in American poetry offered by the Fellows in American Letters of Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. A controversy arose since Mr. Pound was indicted for treason in the United States.

From the result of this controversy, Luther H. Evans, librarian of the Fellows in American Letters of Library Congress, announced that the prize has been withdrawn and no further awards will be presented for achievement in music, art and literature.

President, Miss Frances Haydon, presided and roll call was answered by announcing any works published by the members.

Miss Allura Leslie, Mrs. Carl
Wilson and Mrs. C. R. Brenner have poems published in the American Bard. As part of last evening's program the prize winning workshop poems in the contest recently judged by the Youngstown Friendly Writers, were read, first by Mrs. C. R.

Brenner and Mrs. Josephine Alexander, second.

Announcements were made that the Poetry group's work shop meeting is scheduled for Friday,
September 16, with Miss Garnet Rhodes, Garfield avenue. The appreciation meeting on October 7 will be with Miss Francis Haydon of Walmo. A guest speaker will be heard at this time.

Heat Waves In Brain May Cause Waves Of Crime

NEWCASTLE, Eng., Sept. 6.—A noted British psychologist believes that heat waves in the brain may cause crime waves.

Prof. Alexander Kennedy told a conference of the British Association of Scientists at Newcastle that encephalitis, a childhood brain inflammation, produces all the worst characteristics of gangsters.

Kennedy, who has studied criminals in Alcatraz and other American and British prisons, explained that the disease is contracted usually by persons between the ages of 8 and 20.

The psychologist said they most commonly develop into the gangster type "and become wantonly violent sexual perverts, stealing and swindling with no feeling of guilt or sympathy." He added:

"Clinical examinations of hundreds of violent criminals in Britain have convinced me that past crime waves are partly due to previous epidemics of the disease."

Kennedy pointed out the late American public enemy number one, John Dillinger, as a "noted example" of a sufferer of the brain malady and linked the American gangster era of the late twenties with an epidemic of encephalitis which lasted from 1918 to 1926.

Seven out of 10 people visiting Bermuda in 1948 traveled by plane.

SET NEW FIRSTS FOR WOMEN

ALTHOUGH WOMAN'S PLACE used to be in the home, these two women have proved that saying is false by making history at the State Department in Washington. At left is Margaret Joy Tibbetts of Bethel, Md., chosen as the Department's first officer to go abroad in the exchange program between the foreign and domestic services. At right is Dorothy Fosdick, daughter of famed Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick. She is the first woman named to the foreign policy planning staff. (International)

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 6.—Let's visit some movie sets today!

Doris Day owns a pretty kisser that happens to be covered with freckles. Her pretty shoulders also are covered with freckles.

When we barge into a nightclub scene for Warner's "Young Man With a Horn," Miss Day is sporting a no-shoulder evening gown that discloses, among other things, a flock of freckles.

Director Mike Curtiz, an explosive sort of gent even in his quieter moments, hollers: "Cover the freckles on the shoulders! Either with make-up or a different dress."

Very Nice Freckles
Miss Day shakes her blonde noggin and asserts: "There is nothing wrong with freckles. I got 'em on my face and I got 'em on my shoulders and I am not going to make a secret of either fact. I want to look like Doris Day and not like a glamor doll."

Curtiz smites his brow and moans: "What will people think, seeing a beautiful girl in a nightclub in an evening gown with spots on her shoulders?"

"They will think," snaps the freckled actress, "that she is a very smart young lady with freckled shoulders!"

And that is that!

Ladd Popular

On location in downtown Los Angeles with Paramount's "Postal Inspector," you learn how popular a guy Alan Ladd is, and why.

In a broader sense you realize the far-reaching international influence of movie stars and their pictures. Most of the 500 fans surrounding the film troupe are of Mexican descent. Many cannot speak English.

The demonstration is staged in the eerie atmosphere of Southern Pacific Railroad yards at night.

Shortly after dusk neighbors start drifting onto the scene.

At dinner call, Ladd starts walking through the crowd toward long picnic-like tables set up for cast and crew. Small boys fall in step, walking proudly beside him.

Sign Autographs
For an hour Ladd and his wife Sue Carol sign autographs between bites. Alan collects a huge tub of cookies from the improvised commissary and passes them out to each grinning kid as he signs their scraps of paper.

Later the crowd cheers each time Ladd appears for a scene. Chico Day, assistant director, mounts an improvised platform and addresses the crowd in their familiar Spanish-Mexican tongue.

He asks for co-operation and silence when "quiet" was requested.

It works perfectly. But every time there is a "break" there are more cheers, more autographs.

The crowd thins as the night wears on. But many are still there when the troupe is finished at 3 a. m.

And Ladd is more than ever their hero.

The length of Broadway within the city limits of Greater New York is approximately 15½ miles.

More Traffic Lights Asked

During council meeting in city hall today Property Director J. D. Alexander offered a motion asking the state highway traffic engineers to approve traffic lights at West Washington street and Atlantic avenue, and at Wilmington and Garfield avenues. The motion was seconded by Street Director James Gibson and was adopted unanimously.

This will be the second request for the traffic lights, a former request having been refused by the state body.

The council is of the opinion that the traffic at these points is such that protection is needed, hence he renewed request.

At 10:55 a. m. EDT, Shirley's father became convinced that his daughter was ill and exhausted and must give up the attempt.

He pleaded with her to emerge. She declined.

A few minutes later, France said: "Come on baby, for Pop's sake, get out."

Once again she said: "No. I'm going to make it."

Feeling that Shirley was done in—cold, sick and exhausted—France gave a reluctant order.

Men swimmers jumped in and as they pushed her to the side of the boat, France leaned down and dragged her aboard by sheer strength.

She was reported to have burst into tears but was wrapped in heavy blankets as the armada of small boats that accompanied her from Cap Gris Nez on the coast of France headed for Dover.

Two Auto Drivers Held By Police

Two operators of motor vehicles were arrested in the city on charges of driving a motor car while intoxicated September 3, and have been charged with the offense before Alderman James C. Brice by Chief of Police Robert Hanna.

They are Albert G. Quimby, of Rogers, O., and Mitchell Tomkins of New Milford, Pa.

According to State Policeman John Krzton, he arrested Quimby in East Washington near the Public Square, when he saw Quimby driving east in the wrong traffic lane and turned him over to city policemen.

Tomkins was arrested at 11:45 p.m. September 3 by City Policeman H. L. Richards and Delbert Weis after Tomkins' car had been involved in an accident with that operated by Paul A. Rowe of Bessemer at Grant and North Mercer streets.

A quantity of intoxicants was allegedly found in cars operated by Quimby and Tomkins.

Court House

Candidates File
On Two Tickets

Question Arises As To Whether Bessemer Men
Are Candidates
At All

OTHER EVENTS
IN COURT HOUSE

Two election questions have arisen before the primary election on September 13. Two Bessemer men, Ralph J. Engle and J. E. Davidson, have filed nominating petitions upon the Republican and Democratic tickets. Engle is a candidate for council nomination and Davidson for constable.

The law provides that no person (save judge candidates) may file on more than one ticket and in filing the nominating petition the candidate must swear that he is not a candidate for the same office upon any other ticket.

There are four council nominations to make and only four candidates on each ticket. There is no opposition to Mr. Davidson.

It has been suggested that if these candidates got write-in votes this would be sufficient to nominate providing they got enough. As the matter stands the opinion of the court house seems to be that they are not candidates upon either ticket.

Hospital Corpsmen
Needed By County
Disaster Committee

Any men in the county who served as hospital corpsmen during the war and would be willing to serve with a doctor in time of disaster, are asked to contact the local Red Cross.

Dr. William Hinkson, chairman of the medical division of the Lawrence County Disaster committee, would like to have such persons available for emergency duty in the county in case they are needed.

Medical corpsmen could be of great help to the community while working in this capacity in conjunction with the doctors of the county, according to Dr. Hinkson.

"Assignment; America

By INEZ ROBB
(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
(Distributed By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Sidney S. Pike is a handsome Vermont boy who has made a fortune out of thin air and a crack in your and my neck.

Every time you and I take a gander into the wild blue yonder to watch some fly-boy write "Don Voyage, Toots!" or "Drink Cola Nuts," Mr. Pike makes another hole in one on the cash register.

As president of the Skywriting Corporation of America, Mr. Pike's business may be up in the clouds, but his feet are on very solid ground.

Mr. Pike, who started in the sky-writing business 18 years ago, contracts for big commercial jobs or highly personalized one-shot ventures with equal aplomb.

He has spelled out the names of cigarettes, soft drinks and automobiles all over the U.S.A. and he has flown over an outgoing ocean liner, to draw for the benefit of a bride and bridegroom abroad a huge heart encircling their respective initials.

"The personal touch is one of our specialties," said Mr. Pike, who could pose as a man of distinction any day, with or without a glass in his hand.

Patented Process

He told me, to my great surprise, that sky-writing has always been a patented process. Not just anyone can get up there in the firmament and spell out words.

Mr. Pike is as sensitive to weather conditions as an old lady with bunions or, anyway, the U.S. Weather Bureau. Skywriting requires a nice, clear day with a blue sky, if the advertising message or the hearts and flowers are to show to best advantage.

Eighteen years in the business has taught Mr. Pike the hard fact that the United States averages only two such clear, blue days per week. The recent heat wave in New York played hob with his business. Grounded his fleet of planes and pilots for almost a month. Because of heat haze, that is.

But Mr. Pike regards sky-writing as a mite old-fashioned. He has just perfected something he has christened "sky-typing," which will set that crack in throbbing in your and my neck from coast to coast very shortly.

Served In Air Corps

Mr. Pike was working on the process when World War II came along and, an ancient nearly 40 years of age, he had no more sense than to get messed up in the air corps. He enlisted, was sent to the Mid-East with a B-24 squadron, and believes he was the oldest living major in the outfit.

Naturally, since he had been flying only since 1928, the corps, probably afraid to entrust him with a plane, made him a ground officer. But he managed to while away his time learning the Arabic alphabet.

This extraneous knowledge came in very handy after he got back in the skywriting business after the war. An American soft drink firm wanted to advertise its business in the air over Cairo and Pike taught his skywriter the Arabic alphabet before sending him out to Egypt to peddle soda water in the sky.

New Sky Typing

Mr. Pike's new sky-typing dingus, which has taken years to perfect, requires either five, seven or nine planes flying in formation to form any letter in the alphabet.

With elegant puffs of smoke, this new system writes precise block letters in the heavens.

"A fifteen-letter message is the maximum," Mr. Pike explained. "That would be eighteen miles long, as it is and is about all the eye can absorb."

With this new method, Mr. Pike estimates that a covey of his sky-typers in two to three hours can cover all the main communities between New York and Boston with any 15-letter message or less decreed by his advertisers. And his contracts cover not only the U.S.A. but far places such as France, the Netherlands and India.

Mr. Pike is crazy about his work except on off days when one of his sky-writers or sky-typers mis-spells a word. Then, somehow, a million persons manage to get his telephone number and call him about it.

Otherwise, the peak of Pike's ambition is still sky high.

Disaster Conference
Scheduled For City
September 15, 16

Field Representative Of Disaster
Service Of National Red
Cross In Charge

A disaster preparedness conference will be held in New Castle on September 14 and 15, it is announced by Ralph F. Davis, chairman of the County Disaster committee.

The conference, conducted under the auspices of the Lawrence County Chapter of the Red Cross, will concern the disaster program set up in this county and in other places.

Lloyd Morris, field representative for disaster service of the National Red Cross, will be in charge of the conference and will meet individually with each of the divisions of the county disaster organization.

Last evening of the conference there will be a meeting of county, city, Red Cross and all other persons or departments concerned with disaster facilities in the county.

Available Facilities

The purpose of the entire disaster program, on the national level and in Lawrence county, is to have facilities available for use on a moments notice in case of a disaster.

County persons are reminded by the committee that the greatest part of meeting a disaster is the sound planning and organization. The Lawrence county committee has already organized disaster facilities to a great extent in the county and published the disaster chart for the use of all residents.

Though Lawrence county has been free of disasters for a good many years, no stones are being left unturned to assure the best and quickest facilities in case one should strike here.

Attempt To Foment
Class War In U.S.
Fails Says Eisenhower

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6.—(INS)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower declared in a Labor Day speech that communism's attempt to foment a violent class war in the United States is a "blunder" and has failed.

He told a meeting of the American Bar Association in St. Louis that teamwork between capital and labor has "achieved success that confounds" Communists who hope for the overthrow of democracy by an "inevitable" workers' revolution.

Eisenhower, wartime chief of Allied forces in Europe and now president of Columbia university, did not refer to Russia by name. He confined his attack to a denunciation of "Communist falsehoods" that seek to provoke "riot, physical strife and civil disorder."

He warned management and unions alike to avoid the influence of both the extreme left or right. He cautioned them to follow "the middle of the road between the unfettered power of concentrated wealth on one flank and the unbridled power of statism on the other."

Eisenhower, who is an outspoken foe of "too much" power in Washington, made it clear he fears a threat not only from communism, but from excessive control by the Federal government as well. He added:

"Ours is a government of law, not despotic decree."

The idea of establishing a tomb for the Unknown Soldier is generally credited to a London newspaper editor, J. B. Wilson.

Turtle Measures
Nearly Seven Feet

SEOUL, Sept. 6.—(INS)—What is believed to be the world's biggest turtle—a creature measuring nearly seven feet long and weighing 300 pounds—is in possession of the South Korean government today.

A farmer found the huge turtle in a salt water pond and presented it to South Korean President Syngman Rhee who remarked:

"It's an omen of prosperity, longevity and good things for the Korean republic."

The biggest turtle hitherto known, measuring six and a half feet, is in the London zoo.

German Youths Are Learning To Like Democracy

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 6.—(INS)

—A former German army corporal said that German youths are learning to like democracy despite years of training to accept only military discipline.

Arno Kretschmer, wartime member of the Wehrmacht artillery now enrolled as a journalism student at the University of Georgia, added, however, that "we still need the assistance" of American occupation forces.

He said the "rubble of German youth—warped in body as well as mind—and calculatingly indoctrinated with the philosophy of hatred" could not be cleaned up rapidly.

Donald G. Rapson Just Misses Trip On Baseball Team

Catcher On Fifth Air Force All-Star Team From Japan; Defeated By Okinawa

Cpl. Donald G. Rapson, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rapson, 916 Beckford street, now stationed in Japan, has just missed an opportunity to come to the United States to play in the U. S. Air Force baseball tournament.

Donald was a member of the Fifth Air Force All-Star team from Japan which lost to the Okinawa team in a playoff game for the right to represent the Far East in the Air Force tournament. A catcher for the FEAF Tornadoes, the Tokyo baseball team and champions of the Fifth Air Force league, Don played in about 80 games and was chosen number one catcher in the league.

Maybe Next Year

Seven members of the Fifth Air Force All-Star team were from Pennsylvania, it was learned. Naturally all are disappointed at not making the trip but are hoping for the chance next year.

Corporal Rapson enlisted in the air force for a three year term a year ago and was sent to Japan after basic training and a furlough.

Two other New Castle boys, William Carlson and Charles Gee, left New Castle with Rapson and are stationed near him in the Tokyo district. The three boys get together often in gabfests.

Consistory To Have First Family Party

Fall Activities Will Begin With Entertainment On September 17

Fall activities of the coordinate bodies of the Valley of New Castle Consistory will get under way fairly early this year, Commander in Chief Ill. Welty O. Rugh stated today.

The entertainment committee is making arrangements for a fine program of entertainment on Saturday evening, September 17, in the Cathedral, when the first family party will take place.

There will be picture shorts as the audience is assembling, following which the main program of entertainment will be presented, starting at 8 o'clock. This will be followed by dancing and a feature picture for those who do not care to dance.

The next event of the season will be a members' party on October 29 for member and one lady only.

The fall reunion of the Consistory takes place on November 16-18.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARREL

IMPORTANCE OF MANNERS

"What do you consider the most important social assets? By this I mean what is most conducive to being well-liked and having innumerable friends?"

Answer: We should always so conduct ourselves both at home and in public that our manners are impeccable. And our manners should be based upon respect not only for ourselves but for others. We, therefore, should say nothing and do nothing that might offend others. We should not consciously hurt anyone's feelings, criticize anyone's ancestry, home, background, clothes—no matter how tempted we may be to do so.

People who gain popularity, who have a superfluity of friends and invitations are invariably mindful of the feelings of others and they say complimentary things instead of giving way to thoughtless criticism. Self-control is one of the most essential "musts" on our list of social assets. To display uncontrolled emotion in public is in the worst possible taste. Well-bred people never show, before strangers, sorrow, anger or even affection—no matter how trying the conditions.

If you don't believe me, just look around, whenever there is such a display in a public place, and see for yourself the kind of people who violate this part of the social code.

Question: Should wedding announcements be sent to the bridegroom's family?

Answer: They should be sent to all of his friends and relatives who had not witnessed the ceremony. Announcements should not be sent to anyone who witnessed the ceremony.

Present your problems to Miss Marrel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers including stamped, addressed envelopes.

STOPS LAXATIVES— FEELS BETTER!

"Have been eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN 3 years and it's wonderful! Now I don't ever need a laxative, feel so much better. I've told plenty of others too!"
Mrs. Jerry Russell, Route 8, Maryville, Tenn. Many other grateful ALL-BRAN users write the same. You may be helped, too, if constipated due to lack of bulk in the diet; start eating an ounce of crisp, tasty ALL-BRAN daily, drink plenty of water. If not satisfied after 10 days, send empty box to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich. DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Large Crowd At Plant Picnic

About 3500 Attend Johnson Bronze Co. Outing At Cascade On Saturday

Good weather prevailed Saturday afternoon and evening and the annual picnic of the Johnson Bronze employees was a success. About 3500 employees and families attended and a program of entertainment filled the hours until supper time. Races, contests, rides on the various attractions were enjoyed and refreshments served.

The picnic was sponsored jointly by the management and Local 69 of the UAW-CIO. Louis Farone and Paul Cuba were joint chairmen of the affair with Helmut Kray handling the prize committee. He was assisted by Edward Best, Rose Holosko and Lena Costa.

Vincent Ross, chairman of the entertainment committee with his committee members, Fred Natale, Tony DeGlio and "Yank" Pagley had charge of the show which was presented in the grove late in the afternoon. A list of acts from Pittsburgh lived the entertainment hour.

Refreshments were handled by Joe Farone, Louis Corio, Victor George, Tony Farone and Rose Zajac. Tom Cubellis, Nick Lovaglio, Anthony Ross, Leroy Goodland, Jose Toscano and Anthony Galmarino had charge of the rides. William Nicoletti, Russell Hedland and Gordon Marks had charge of the races and athletic programs. Mary Ann Thomas, Violet Thomas and Lucille Mash were in charge of the registration booth.

At supper time the crowd enjoyed a basket picnic in the grove and by nine-thirty the picnic was over, voted a successful affair.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

One of the queerest customs in the publishing business is the literary cocktail party. The basic idea of these primitive functions is to parade the authors of new books before the town's leading critics, columnists, and booksellers. Unfortunately, the leading critics, columnists, and booksellers seldom show up, and a couple of hundred totally unknown gatecrashers do. The guest of honor is pinned down in a corner by some unutterable bore, the host tries vainly to signal the waiters to close down the bar, and a good time is had by none.

At one swanky function, Munro Leaf, creator of the famed Ferdinand the Bull, found himself seated last. "I guess," he said ruefully, "I'm low man on the protocol." A portly author, seated to Leaf, that her husband always took care of her at literary jamborees. "How do you keep him glued to your side?" asked Leaf. "Witches' brew and mysterious potions," she explained coyly. It was at this point somebody noticed that her husband had disappeared completely. Three days later the authoress still was looking for him.

Another jolly Kaffeeklatsch almost ended in a free-for-all when a lady author with Communist leanings (and two sable coats) upbraided a publisher for bidding a million dollars for Mr. Churchill's memoirs. "Churchill is a typical, obsolete, old Tory," shrieked the lady, her cheeks turning an appropriate pink. "His thoughts aren't really his own." "That's all right," the publisher assured her. "The million isn't my own either." The climax of the argument came when he fixed the lady with an accusing finger and demanded, "Where were you when Stalin signed the pact with Hitler?" "Where were you?" she countered. "When Washington crossed the Delaware?" At this point the host put an abrupt end to the brilliant repartee by passing out in the cot room.

Local Red Cross Helps To Contact Florida Victims

Red Cross personnel are busy in Florida communities helping the people trampled by the hurricane to recover both in property and in health. It is reported by the local Red Cross office.

The local office has been instrumental in contacting persons in the hurricane area for Lawrence county residents wishing to know how relatives and friends braved the storm.

An incomplete report to the Red Cross shows that casualties were comparatively low due to the advance warnings and preparation in most communities. Reports show one dead, 47 with major injuries and 42 others hospitalized.

Property damage shows 150 homes destroyed, 200 home with major damage and 6,000 with minor damage. The Red Cross is doing everything in its power to relieve the situation for those families left homeless.

how to REMODEL A HOUSE

It needs a larger kitchen, and a bigger front porch. So—blow it up, and sleep in a tent!

Does that make sense? Certainly not! But it's as sensible as a lot of the lopsided logic advanced by people who want to saddle this country with Socialism.

These people are attacking the established and proved electric light and power industry. Here's how they reason: "Sure, in one lifetime, the business-managed companies have brought electric service to most of America. Sure, wartime shortages held expansion back in some places, but there are still a few people who don't have electricity. Sooo—

"Tear it all down and start something else! Put the business-managed electric companies out of business, and let the government take over."

Does that make sense? Just about as much as the theory that you need to blow up a house to put on a bigger porch.

The American way is a good way of life—the best in the world. It can be made better—by building it up, not tearing it down. Ask your friends and neighbors how they feel about this creeping Socialism, and government entering into business through unfair competition with its own citizens.

FAIR CARAVELLA WEDDING SATURDAY

One of the loveliest of fall weddings was solemnized in St. Vitus church Saturday at 9 o'clock uniting in marriage Miss Laura Ann Fair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fair of 603 Canyon street, and Sam Caravella, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Caravella, 113 Maitland street.

Rev. Fr. Albert M. Innes officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed before an altar embanked with ferns and fall flowers. Vows were exchanged by the young couple in the presence of friends and relatives.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a white satin gown with net and lace trimmed neckline and bustle back. Her long veil fell from a halo of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift from the groom.

Miss Phyl Marino, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a evening rose satin gown with fitted bodice and matching accessories. Her halo was of fresh white baby mums and pink rosebuds and she carried a colonial bouquet of baby mums and pink roses.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Patricia Testa, niece of the bride. Bridesmaids, Misses Evelyn Fair, sister of the bride, Madeleine Cavelli, Margaret Sparano and Phyllis Bosco, wore pea green satin gowns with fitted bodices. They wore halos of fresh flowers, yellow baby mums and rosebuds. Their bouquets were colonial white and yellow baby mums and rosebuds.

Nick Caravella, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Ralph Pallierino, Raymond Cloutier, Philip Masone and Philip Bordonaro.

A wedding breakfast followed the congratulatory period at the Ecclesiac club. A wedding dinner was held at a Croton avenue dining room, guests numbering 100. The evening reception was held at the Ecclesiac club.

Mrs. Caravella is employed at the Shenango Pottery company. Mr. Caravella is affiliated with the Associated Box Factory.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Caravella departed on a wedding trip to New York City and other points of interest. They will reside in their newly furnished apartment, 744 Paul street.

Cascade Park Season Ended

Report 36,000 Make Use Of Grove Facilities During Past Season; Grove
Still Open

Labor Day closed one of the most successful seasons ever enjoyed at Cascade park.

Obedient warnings to stay off the highway if possible, hundreds of local residents wended their way to the park and enjoyed themselves more than if they had attempted to join the thousands of motorists who jammed the highways of the county and state over the weekend.

Although the Labor Day week and crowd at the park, according to manager Chris Coulthard was not record breaking, the many that turned out to enjoy themselves, did it in safety, as there were no accidents reported to the office at the park. Every ride, amusement and other concessions ran at full capacity the entire day on Monday as the amusement minded individuals were taking advantage of the last day of the park season for 1949.

Even though the rides and stands are boarded up for another year, the park itself, including the picnic facilities will be open until September 15. Gas in the grove will be left on until that time, so that many last minute functions can be enjoyed there it was announced. Two picnics are already planned for this week Mr. Coulthard stated.

Checking over his figures for the past season, Mr. Coulthard discovered that 36,000 individuals made use of the grove. The figures are compiled on the reports given to Mr. Coulthard by the various groups arranging for picnics at the park. They are fairly accurate. Other figures on use of the park facilities are to be released in a few days.

STRUCK BY AUTO

John Masters, 21 month old youngster, of 213 South Cedar street, was struck by an auto driven by James Pelletieri, of 1001 1/2 North Liberty street, Monday at 6:30 p. m., in front of the boy's home.

He was treated in the New Castle hospital for lacerations of the skull, face, back and arms. After treatment he was discharged from the hospital.

In First Attempt

Odom, holder of the world's record for solo 'round-the-world' flights, died in his first attempt at the "big time" of aerial closed course racing. He had made a spectacular debut Saturday, the first day of the races, when he piloted the same ship, the "Be-guine", to victory in the Soho trophy race. He established a new record of 388.392 miles an hour in that 105-mile event.

In winning the Thompson, Cleveland flew his powerful white Corsair around the 15 laps of the 15-mile course at an average speed of 307.071 miles an hour, eclipsing the mark of 306.131 he set when he won the premier speed flying event two years ago.

New Castle Splits Holiday Bill With Butler, Lose 5-3, Win 7-0

Frank Wagner Racks Up Nineteenth Win Of Year

New Castle closed the 1949 Mid-Atlantic league season at Flaherty Memorial Field Monday night on a victorious note, defeating Butler 7 to 0 in a game that was halted by rain in the last of the seventh inning.

The veteran Frank Wagner racked up his 19th win of the year, against nine defeats, pitching a swell four-hitter, in the abbreviated game.

Butler won the afternoon game 5 to 3, with Bob Cook the loser, to Amede DeCruydt in a hurling duel. Cook gave up eight hits and New Castle had eight hits.

Lose Sunday 1 to 0

New Castle lost a tough game Sunday to Butler 1 to 0 in a pitching battle between Haven and Pritchard for Butler and Mikey Giardullo. Butler had 11 hits and New Castle had six.

Tommy Milich ended the season by hitting his ninth and tenth homers Monday afternoon and evening.

New Castle finished in cellar by four points, winning 24 and losing 42 for a percentage of .364 to Uniontown's .25-43 for a percentage of .368.

The weatherman cheated New Castle out of four games or the boys might have gotten out of the cellar.

Johnstown Awarded Game

JOHNSTOWN, Sept. 6.—Johnstown closed its home season Saturday on a disappointing note when New Castle Manager Billy Mongiello withdrew his team from the field in the ninth inning. The game was awarded to Johnstown.

Manager Billy Mongiello has appealed to President Elmer Daily, of the Mid-Atlantic League over the $250 fine and 90 playing days suspension, handed to him after he took the Nats off the field at Johnstown, Sunday night.

Daily has consented to a hearing in Erie next Sunday at which time all principals involved will be present. Umpire Landes, Mongiello, Kiel, and others interested. Kiel drew a $50 fine but no suspension for his part in the argument.

The suspension if it sticks will mean that Mongiello will not be eligible to play or manage before August 1 of the 1950 season. This is one of the most severe fines and suspensions ever handed a Mid-Atlantic league manager or player.

Eddie Dyer, now manager of the St. Louis Cardinals was the last manager ever to take his team off the field.

Johnnies were awarded a 9-0 forfeit victory, giving them nine wins over the Nats in 10 games at the Point this year.

The dynamite, on which the fuse had been burning since the sixth inning, exploded in the top half of the final frame when Bobby Cook, batting out of turn, singled home two runs. That would have made the score 8-5 in Johnstown's favor.

Johnny Manager Roy Nichols protested and when Plate Umpire Stan Landis ordered the runners who had scored back on base, the storm broke.

New Castle played Toledo Scott in 1933, beating them 37 to 0.

Action in Saturday morning's intra-squad game at Taggart stadium shows Bo Wallace ripping off a nice gain while running at fullback for the first team, during the second half. The two Red Hurricane eleven's played a 6-6 deadlock.

Erie-Johnstown Open Title Play Wednesday Night

Best Out Of Seven Games, Johnstown Slight Favorites To Win Championship

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 6.—(INS)—Erie and Johnstown meet in Point Stadium tomorrow night in the first game of a seven-game series to determine the Middle Atlantic league champion.

Johnstown, first half winner, is a slight favorite to win the toga over Erie, second half winner.

After two contests at Point Stadium, the two contenders move to Erie for two or, possible, three games. The sixth game is scheduled for Point Stadium and if a seventh is necessary, it will be played at a site to be determined by the toss of a coin.

The game was the traditional conclusion of two weeks of pre-school drill for the high school gridders at YMCA Camp Fred L. Rentz. However, the actual conclusion could not be staged at Camp because the field there is inadequate for actual playing.

A group of nearly 50 boys, with only a few days of loosening up practice, made the sojourn along the Slippery Rock and came back Saturday morning to show that the two weeks of training had been well spent in developing football talent. There are, of course, lots of rough spots to be ironed out and the mystery of why the second team line looked as good as the varsity has to be solved.

Altman Injured

Jimmy Altman, scheduled for a starting assignment at the tail-back spot, is nursing a shoulder injury and watched the game Saturday from the sideline. The veteran speedster will get a new shoulder brace this week and be ready for action Friday night.

John Roussos, 215-pounder up from Franklin, has moved into the starting team at right half-back. Ray Latsko and Bo Wallace shared the full back duties and both were steady gainers no matter which line was doing the blocking for them. Bob White and Ralph Gargillaro shared the quarterback's duties. Bill Papst ran at first team halfback in place of Altman.

Fight For Jobs

Up front Mike Banko and Charles Abramski were in the terminal spots. Tom Mangino and Amen Hassen are the offensive tackles on the first line. Buck Tate and James Harlan held forth at guard. Charles Mancine appears to be a fixture at the pivot slot.

Dick Lewis and Andy Kopsky played outstanding games at end for the second line. Other real stalwarts who held forth as if they really wanted to be on first team were Dick Burr at guard and Lou Bender.

The defending WPIAL champions will hold heavy duty workouts today and Wednesday, then bring out the new red jerseys for a practice session under the lights Thursday night. Friday is the big day and a near capacity crowd will be on hand to see the big Red Hurricane, already tabbed as one of the strong teams of the area, go into action.

The National Football League will open its thirtieth consecutive season on Thursday night, September 22 when the Champion Philadelphia Eagles go to New York to meet the Bulldogs in the Polo Grounds.

Little Change Among Leaders As Result Of Holiday Battle

By JOHN BARRINGTON (International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The serious mal-distribution of talent in the American League manifested itself today after the "haves" spent the Labor Day weekend fattening on the "have-nots."

In 16 games Saturday, Sunday and yesterday first division clubs lost only one game to second division opposition.

The four pennant contenders—New York, Boston, Cleveland and Detroit—made a clean sweep of double headers yesterday against the bottom half of the league.

Four Team Race

Such a situation keeps the race a four-cornered affair but at the same time serves to shove the losers deeper into the race.

Yesterday, the Yankees whipped Philadelphia twice, 13 to 4 and 5 to 2, with Vic Raschi recording his 18th triumph in the opener. Darkness halted the second after seven innings.

Joe DiMaggio hit a bases-full homer—the 316th of his career and his 13th of the season—in the first game, but the clipper retired after one inning of the nightcap with cramps in both legs.

The Red Sox—who move into Yankee Stadium tomorrow night to open a crucial three-game series—stayed 1½ games back, mauling Washington 5 to 2 and 12 to 2.

The victories gave Boston 12 straight wins at home and 16 in 19 games with the Senators.

Indians Win Two

Cleveland felled Chicago 5 to 2 and 6 to 4. Bob Lemon notched his 18th triumph in the second game. Larry Doby hit a homer in each game for the tribe, bringing his total to 21 for the year.

Detroit got four-hit hurling from Freddie Hutchinson and sixth-inning pitching from Art Houtteman in defeating St. Louis, 4 to 0 and 2 to 1.

Brooklyn clipped a full game from the St. Louis Cardinals' National League lead, pulling up within 1½ games.

Tickets For New Castle-Erie Game
On Sale At North Street
School

Tickets for the Erie Tech game will be placed on sale Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, in the newly built booth at the rear of the North Street School. Ticket buyers will enter the drive between the school and the Administration Building on East street. More than three thousand reserved seats will be placed on sale, but due to the heavy sale of season tickets, there will be no seats available within the twenty-five yard lines. A few seats under the roof, at $1.75, will be available in addition to the regular $1.00 seats.

A section of the concrete stands seating nearly one thousand persons will be available for adults this year. This section, at the south end of the stands, is intended for fans from the visiting school, and any seats which they do not require will be offered at the gate on DuShane street south of the stadium at $1.00, at 7 o'clock the evening of the game.

New Castle Moose club captured the District 5 Moose championship Monday afternoon at Cascade field when they defeated the Butler Moose 5 to 0, behind the three-hit pitching of Roger Maggie.

New Castle Moose defeated Beaver Falls and Meadville to enter the District 5 finals with Butler. Next Sunday they meet the District 7, Pittsburgh area champs. Score by innings: R H E.

Hard Tops Race

At Canfield, O., Wednesday Night

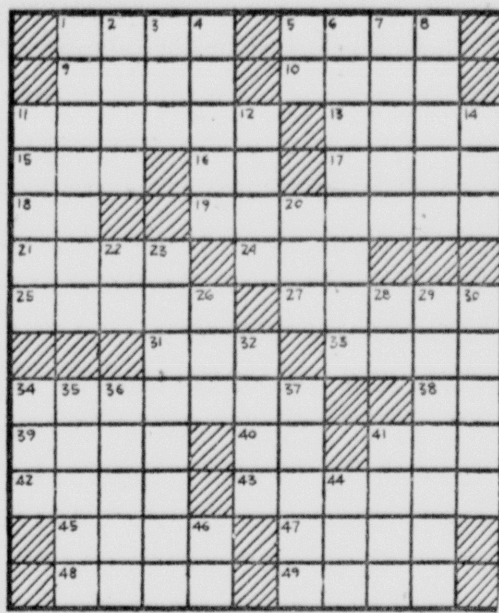

CANFIELD, Ohio, Sept. 6.—Tomorrow night at the Canfield Speedway (Wednesday, September 7) the knock-down "drag 'em out" crashing, smashing Hard Tops will return with another big eight event program. This crowd-pleasing sport, which has the fans screaming from the time they enter the grandstand until leaving will get going tomorrow night with the seventh show of the current season here at Canfield.

There are more than 30 entrants for tomorrow night's eight event program, with the semi-final and feature events being run with reverse starts. This is the first time in this area the cars have ever been in competition with the fastest cars starting last.

Seating capacity will be boosted to 30,000 with the addition of new stands this year in the Penn State football stadium.

Jameson Hospital Need Of Community Chest Funds Cited

Third largest sharer in the annual results of the Community Chest Drive is the Jameson Memorial hospital. The amount given last year was $10,000.

One may justifiably ask several questions about the wisdom of giving Chest funds to the hospital. The $10,000 represents only a small fraction of the hospital's operating budget of nearly $700,000 per year and it is a large portion of that raised by annual subscription in the Community fund drive.

Why does the hospital get this money? How is it expended? Didn't the hospital board just complete a drive for funds? Why do I have to answer so many questions when being admitted?

The Jameson Memorial hospital is one of two institutions in New Castle that have been established as a safe, friendly place for all to come when visited by the misfortune of sickness or the blessing of motherhood. Its doors are always open, its staff ready and the facilities available to take care of any emergency at any time of the day or night. Equipment is in readiness for all who need it, regardless of race, color, creed or religion.

Joseph F. Friedheim, director of the hospital has stated that any one of this community can secure adequate medical care at the hospital if he needs it, whether or not he is able to pay for it. The Jameson hospital is a non-profit community institution and is operated under a board of directors who serve the hospital without recompense. It is supported principally by revenue from patients.

However, if the hospital is to be a place of recovery for all those who really need hospital care, outside charitable assistance must be secured. The state of Pennsylvania, Lawrence county and the Community Chest are the sources of outside revenue used by the hospital. Despite the sums donated for charity, the hospital every year gives more dollars worth of free care than it receives revenue from outside sources. Hence the money given to the hospital by the Community Chest is all used so that some fellow citizen may get the care that he needs. All of the funds are expended right in the community for community citizens.

who would otherwise be deprived of the chance to have a normal healthy birth or a renewal of opportunities to enjoy the happiness that is life.

The questions asked at the time of admission are required by law for vital statistics, for the most part. Other questions are designed to help reserve the finances of the hospital and to make sure that charity funds are used only in those cases where it is absolutely needed. The questions are to help make sure that Community Chest and other monies are spent, not on someone who can really pay his share and won't but on those people who require medical care and can absolutely not pay for it. The hospital has often been criticized for the admission questions. If one just takes time to think of their purpose in relation to the charity work that results in a loss every year, the necessity of the desired information is easily justified.

What about the hospital's own drive for funds?

The people of New Castle were indeed fortunate that the late David Jameson saw fit to donate a large portion of his wealth so that the community might have more adequate hospital facilities. The large structure on Leasure avenue and its facilities were made available at little or no expense to the people. Recently, when the hospital facilities of New Castle were deemed inadequate for the expanding community, the board of directors asked the people for capital outlay. There was no David Jameson to make the total expansion a gift and the hospital users were asked to share in the expansion. The funds raised by that drive will be used to build a new wing and have never been considered a part of the hospital's operating cost. Construction on the addition will start early in 1950.

Your contribution to the Community Chest helps to make 24-hour a day, 365 days a year care, including nurses, dietary service, special apparatus and supplies, diagnostic services, and warm, clean, sanitary beds available to those who absolutely need medical care and are finally unable to pay for it.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

How Important Is The I.Q.?

The I. Q. (index of intelligence) as measured by standardized tests gives us a rough indication of what can be expected from the individual child or adult as far as intellectual ability is concerned.

In the past 25 years or so, a great deal of significance has been attached to the I. Q. Parents have gloated over report of high I. Q.'s or been depressed when they learned a youngster didn't have as high a one as brothers, sisters or other children. Schools have divided children on the basis of this measurement, putting all the high I. Q.'s in one group and the low in another.

We're beginning to see that many other factors come into the picture. Even though a youngster may be potentially capable of intellectual effort at a high level feelings of inferiority may block his functioning. Another child with lower mental ability will do far better work because he has confidence in himself. Some youngsters operate well because they have learned good methods of working. If a youngster is of normal intelligence, he can be expected to get along perfectly well provided we don't pressure him to be a quiz kid.

Intelligence is important, but it's only one factor going into the making of a successful life. As parents, we should be neither too impressed by high I. Q. nor depressed by a low one.

Up until 1814 congressmen were paid only six dollars a day, and that only during the time Congress was in session.

Steel Products Display Planned

General Public To See Industries' Output At U.S.A., C.I.O. Picnic September 11

Products ranging from china-ware to oilfield equipment, from small pliers to a 1400-lb. ingot—all made by steel workers—will be displayed to the general public by 35 manufacturing concerns located in District No. 21 as one of the top attractions at the mammoth picnic sponsored by District No. 21, United Steelworkers of America, on Sunday September 11, at Conneaut Lake Park.

Also on display will be complete bathroom outfits and home and restaurant cooking equipment which the members of the steel union turn out in industries with which they have contracts.

This marks the first time that the companies have arranged a display of their products in conjunction with a union-sponsored function. One of the purposes of their participation is to give the wives and children of steelworkers an opportunity to see the type of work the employees turn out in the mills and factories of District No. 21, which covers an eight-county area in northwestern Pennsylvania. Local steelworkers have made arrangements to be in attendance at this annual outing.

All of this is in addition to the elaborate program arranged for the day by the picnic committee. Rides at the park will be free of charge from 10:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., with a reduced rate in effect afterwards. Vaudeville acts, a band concert, distribution of coffee and ice cream, numerous prizes for the children—all free of charge—will attract thousands of persons to the park. A speaking program headed by Honorable Hubert H. Humphrey, United States Senator from Minnesota, and David J. McDonald, International secretary-treasurer of the United Steelworkers of America, will claim considerable interest. Senator Humphrey is regarded as the foremost orator on the national political scene. Mr. McDonald's message will be of particular importance to the steelworkers in this district because of the pending negotiations with "Big Steel." Climaxing a complete day of entertainment will be free dancing in the evening in the ballroom of Hotel Conneaut. Music for dancing will be furnished by Benny Jones and musicians of the Shenango valley. Benny Jones will also emcee the entire day's activities.

The colors of our flag were decided upon because white means purity and innocence; red signifies hardness and valor, and blue indicates vigilance, perseverance and justice.
